

Libs say NO to Equal Pay LABOR and GREENS ARE GO!

ABBOTT REFUSES TO SIGN HEADS OF AGREEMENT

The Liberal Party has sent a clear message of NO on the question of equal pay for community workers.

On August 5, 2010, the ASU asked Tony Abbott to sign the same Heads of Agreement signed by Prime Minister Julie Gillard in October 2009, committing a future Liberal Government to support for the ASU Equal Pay case. At the time of going to print on Friday August the 13th the ASU has had no response from the Opposition Leader.

LIB Candidates NO SHOW at Equal Pay forums.

During this election the ASU has targeted 32 NSW Federal Electorates to ask candidates to publically commit to support full funding for equal pay.

Not ONE liberal candidate agreed to attend a forum or meet with members.

Not ONE liberal candidate agreed to sign the written commitment on page 3 of this newsletter.

All ALP and all Greens candidates approached agreed to sign the commitment.

Liberals say NO to funding for Equal Pay

During the course of the campaign the ASU asked the Liberals to agree to fund the outcome of the equal pay case.

The Federal Liberal Campaign Director responded, "We cannot make any new spending commitments beyond existing policy announcements."

In contrast the ALP National Campaign Office has advised all candidates including Ministers that they can sign the ASU commitment on page 3.

make this written commitment:

- to support equal pay for community workers, and,
- to work with my party to ensure that services have the funds they need to meet the costs of equal pay without the need to cut services.

Signed: _____

Why won't Tony Abbott and the the liberals sign up?

Date: _____

PAY UP!

No more lip service to equal pay

What about Workchoices?

The 2010 Federal Election is about the rights of all working Australians and the threat of a future return to WorkChoices under the Coalition.

Tony Abbott was a key Minister in the former Howard Government that introduced WorkChoices. He believes in WorkChoices and wants to bring it back. He just won't call it WorkChoices. He said it was one of the Howard Government's greatest achievements.

The Howard Government's industrial legislation, it was good for wages, it was good for jobs, and it was good for workers. And let's never forget that. —Tony Abbott, Canberra 19 March 2008

Then just this year, he said he'd bring back individual contracts and cut unfair dismissal laws – the worst of WorkChoices. But now, with an election on, he says WorkChoices is dead, but then adds:

Obviously, Um, I can't give an absolute guarantee about every single aspect of workplace relations legislation.

—Tony Abbott, 3AW 19 July 2009

And during the election campaign, another senior Liberal Mr Abetz admitted that the Liberals would 'tweak' the legislation if they were elected.

There is room to tweak Labor's Fair Work laws.

— Liberal Senate leader Eric Abetz AAP 17 July 2010
